ORDER-IN-APPEAL

This appeal has been filed by M/s AIA Engineering Ltd (Unit-2) 235-237, 249-250, 271-276, GVMM, Odhav, Ahmedabad (hereinafter referred to as "the appellant") against the Order-in-Original No.MP/09/Dem/2015-16 dated 24.11.2016 (hereinafter referred to as "the impugned order) passed by the Deputy Commissioner of Central Excise, Division-V, Ahmedabad-1 (hereinafter referred to as "the adjudicating authority").

- 2. Briefly stated, as it was noticed that the appellant had wrongly taken Cenvat credit to the tune of Rs.2,26,787/-, during January 2014 to March 2015 on (i) Banking and Other financial Services (where the services rendered was for entering into forward contracts in relation to foreign exchange broking which is in nature of speculative activities and not an input services); (ii) Legal Consultancy Services (provided by consultants not based in the country and utilized in relation to the assessee's intellectual Property Rights related disputes outside the country); and (iii) Renting of immovable properties services (the immovable property is not the premises of any of the registered unit), a show cause notice dated 24.04.2015 was issued to them for recovering the said amount with interest and imposition of penalty. Vide the impugned, the adjudicating authority has confirmed the demand with interest and imposed penalty of Rs.1,13,000/-.
- 3. Being aggrieved, the appellant has filed the instant appeal, inter alia, stating that:
  - The service viz., banking and financial services have been used by the appellant for "inward remittances" and "outward remittances" made by the bank for the exported goods; that the appellant entered into forward contracts with the bank to cover the risk of foreign exchange fluctuation between the overseas currencies and the local currency, which may otherwise cause immense loss to the appellant.
  - The services are received in relation to the activities relating to their business and if they did not avail such services, the appellant would not been able to export the goods manufactured by them, therefore, such services are integrally connected to the appellant's business and are input services within the meaning of the definition given under Rule 2(1) of the Cenvat Credit Rules, 2004; that since the Banking and Financial is time and again considered as input service by various CESTAT, the adjudicating authority has denied by stating that the service were not integrally connected to their manufacturing activities. Therefore, the impugned order is contrary to the settled legal position. The appellant cited various citations in support of their arguments.
  - The denial of credit on legal consultancy service is also wrong as such services were integral to the protection of patent of goods manufactured by the appellant; that if the patent infringement suit would not have been defended by the appellant, sales in the USA market would not be possible; that the services utilised in relation to the patent infringement case in USA were in order to protect their market and on-going sales, which was directly related to their business; that the Service tax was paid by the appellant on reverse charge mechanism and considering the said facts, the view taken by the adjudicating authority that defending the patent suit had no bearing on the manufacturing activities is baseless.
  - The Renting of Immovable Property service availed by them was in relation to the rented godown for storage of inputs and the service provider has paid service tax on the godown as service provider; that since the storage of inputs is integral part of their manufacturing activities, they are entitled to avail the credit on service tax paid towards renting of immovable property; that the appellant had declared such premises taken for rent for storage of inputs to the service tax authorities, thus the denial of credit is not sustainable.

- The Commissioner (Appeals) has allowed credit of such renting of immovable property for earlier period, vide his order dated 12.08.2015; that the adjudicating authority has not considered the said decision while passing the impugned order.
- There is no justification in imposition of penalty in law as well as in facts, as in the facts of the present case, there was no allegation of any malafide intention to evade payment of tax.
- 4. A personal hearing in the matter was held on 19.10.2016. Shri Sudhanshu Bissa, Advocate appeared for the same and reiterated the grounds of appeal. He also submitted copy of various citations in support of their arguments narrated in the appeal.
- 5. I have carefully gone through the facts of the case and submissions made by the appellant in the appeal memorandum as well as at the time of personal hearing. The limited issue to be decided in the instant case is relating to eligibility of input service credit on (i) Banking and Financial Service; (ii) Legal Consultancy Service; and (iii) Renting of Immovable Property Service during the period from April 2014 to March 2015.
- 6. (l) "input service" means any service,-
  - (i) used by a provider of taxable service for providing an output service or
  - (ii) used by the manufacture, whether directly or indirectly, in or in relation to the manufacture of final products and clearance of final products from the place of removal, and includes services used in relation to setting up, modernization, renovation or repairs of a factory, premises of provider of output service or an office relating to such factory or premises, advertisement or sales promotion, market research, storage upto the place of removal, procurement of inputs, accounting, auditing, financing, recruitment and quality control, coaching and training, computer networking, credit rating, share registry, and security, business exhibition, legal services, inward transportation of inputs or capital goods and outward transportation upto the place of removal;

7. The above definition of 'input service' fixes the meaning of the expression and the services used by the manufacturer, are required to have a nexus with the manufacture of the final product and clearance of the final product upto the place of removal. The services which are enumerated in the inclusive clause of the said definition are also required to have been used up to place of removal. Therefore, only activities relating to business, which were taxable services and used by the manufacturer in relation to the manufacture of final product and clearance of the final product up to the place of removal would be eligible as 'input services'. After the final products are cleared from the place of removal, there would be no scope for subsequent use of service to be treated as input service. Services beyond the stage of manufacturing and clearance of the goods from the factory cannot be considered as input services. Thus, for the purpose of ascertaining the admissibility of CENVAT credit on services, the nature of service availed should be in consonance with the above parameters. Keeping in view of above aspect, I would like to discuss the issue service wise.

(i) Banking and other financial services:

- The adjudicating authority has denied the input service credit on the ground that the 8. service rendered was for entering into forward contracts in relation to foreign exchange broking which is in nature of speculative activities, thus not an input services. On the other hand, the appellant has contended that the said services have been used by the appellant for "inward remittances" and "outward remittances" made by the bank for the exported goods; that they entered into forward contracts with the bank to cover the risk of foreign exchange fluctuation between the overseas currencies and the local currency, which may otherwise cause immense loss to the appellant. Now, the question arises, whether such activities, as contended by the appellant, is within the ambit of the definition of "input service" or otherwise. It is the contention of the appellant that as they export their goods substantially, it was very much necessary for them to enter into contracts with the service provider i.e Bank to prevent losses arising from currency fluctuation/variation; that the said service is required to be treated as in relation with their business activities as their input service and therefore, they are entitled for Cenvat credit on such service being a input service. It is observed that the remittance is a charges on payment received i.e inward remittance from the foreign buyers and payment sent i,e outward remittance to foreign suppliers through the bank and forward contract. The activity of forward contract and the remittances of inward/outward payment have not directly or indirectly in relation to the manufacture/clearance of goods or with the other activities viz. accounting, auditing, financing; etc as described in the definition of "input service" upto the place of removal.
- While deciding this issue, the adjudicating authority has relied on various case laws 9. viz.(i) M/s Ultratech Cement Ltd reported at 2010 (260) ELT 369 (Bom); (ii) M/s Hindustan National Glass and Industries reported at 2013 (288) ELT 408 (Tri-Del); (iii) CCE Chennai V/s Sundaram Brake Linings reported at 2010 (19) STR 172 (Tri-Chennai); (iv) CCE Nagpur Vs Manikgarh Cement Works reported at 2010 (18) STR 275 (Tri); and (v) Vandana Global -2010 (253) ELT 440 (Tr-LB) and held that in the instant case, the Cenvat credit on Banking and Other financial Services is not admissible to the appellant as the services rendered was for entering into forward contracts in relation to foreign exchange broking which is in nature of speculative activities and not an input services. I further observe that this issue was decided by Commissioner (Appeals) vide his OIA No.AHM-EXCUS,-001-APP-001-2015-16 dated 12.08.2015, wherein the credit was denied. In view of above discussion and applying the ratio of the said citations referred to above and OIA dated 12.08.2015, I observe that the adjudicating has rightly uphold that the said service has no nexus with the manufacturing activities or utilized beyond place of removal and it would not termed as "input service". Therefore, I uphold the decision of the adjudicating authority.

(ii) Legal Consultancy Service.

10. I observe that the appellant has availed the Cenvat credit on Legal Consultancy service in respect of service obtained at USA for the protection of patent of goods manufactured by them. It is the contention of the appellant that if the patent infringement suit would not be defended, the repercussion would be fatal and they would not be in a position to sell their goods in the overseas market. The appellant argued that they had discharged service tax in the reverse charge mechanism. I observe that in the instant case, the issue to be considered is as to whether the legal service obtained at abroad can be termed as "input service" on their business activities and falls within the ambit of the definition of input service. The adjudicating authority, in the impugned order stated that there is no reason to construe that defending a patent infringement in the USA can have any bearing on the manufacturing business of the appellant. He also stated that no evidence was adduced by the appellant before him to show that such a law suit has any integral nexus with their business of manufacturing activity.

The definition of input service given in Rule 2(I) of Cenvat Credit Rules, 2004 clearly. 11. covers that "any service used by a provider of taxable service for providing an output service" and specifically includes the "legal services". Further, the issue relating to availment of Cenvat credit on "Legal Consultancy Service" as "input service" is no longer res integra, in view of various judgment viz., (i) in the case of M/s HCL Comnet System & Service Ltd reported at 2015 (37) STR 716 (All); (ii) CCE Vs HCL Technologies reported at 2015 (40) STR 1124 (Tri-Del); (iii) Golden Tobaco Ltd reported at 2013 (30) STR 594 (Tri); and M/s Delphi Automotive System P Ltd reported at 2014 (36) STR 1089 (Tri-Del) etc. In all these judgments, it has been held that the said service is covered in the definition of "input service. In the instant case, as stated above, the legal service was obtained at USA and paid service tax under reversed mechanism. The adjudicating authority stated that the appellant has not adduced any evidence to establish that the service was availed only in nexus with the business of manufacturing/clearance of their export goods. The onus to fulfill the requirement relating to the claim clearly rests on the appellants and it was in the discharge of that onus that they engaged such services only for protection of patent goods manufactured by them and does not extend the said service in any other matter. It is an admitted fact that they failed to submit any such evidence before the adjudicating authority. I further observe that they also not tried to adduce any such proof before the appellate authority though they have enough time. I further observe that this issue was decided by Commissioner (Appeals) vide his OIA No.AHM-EXCUS,-001-APP-001-2015-16 dated 12.08.2015, wherein the credit was denied In the circumstances, there is no reason to construe that the said service availed by the appellant was bearing only on the manufacturing business of their export goods. In the circumstances, I do not find any merit in the argument of the appellant. Therefore, I uphold the decision of the adjudicating authority in this matter.

(iii) Renting of Immovable Property:

12. The appellant has contended that the said service is availed by them in relation to the rented godown for storage of inputs and final products and since it is an integral part of their manufacturing activity, they are entitled for such input Cenvat credit. The adjudicating denied the said credit availed on such service on the ground that the appellant had not adduced any evidence/documental support for their claim; that the rented premises taken by group of AIA Engineering Ltd is engaged in job work business and which not the part of the appellant and also no evidence was furnished by the appellant that the said job work premises are part of them. I observe that this issue was decided earlier by the Commissioner (Appeal), vide OIA No.AHM-

EXCUS-001-APP-001-15-16 dated 12.08.2015 in the appellant's case. It is fact that storage of input and final products is an integral part of manufacturing activity and the services related to such activities are fall within the ambit of the definition of input service. In the instant case, it was observed by the adjudicating authority that the appellant has availed such credit in respect of rented premises, which was utilized by their group of units for storage of goods, job works etc. In the circumstances, the appellant is entitled only for the said credit on the basis of quantum of job works, storage of inputs etc utilized by them. I observe in the instant case that the appellant has used the rented premises taken by group of AIA Engineering Ltd and used for job works, storage of inputs as well as finished goods etc. and no evidence was furnished by them that they are also in part of utilizing the said premises and taken the credit according to ISD. It is the responsibility of the appellant to provide evidence as well as related documents in respect of credit taken before the adjudicating authority for his satisfaction, however, they failed to do so. Further, they also failed to submit such evidence before the appellant authority. In the circumstances, I feel that one more chance may be granted to the appellant for submitting such details before the adjudicating authority in respect of input service credit taken on Renting of Immovable Property utilized by them proportionately. Therefore, I remand the issue for fresh consideration to the adjudicating authority.

13. In view of above discussion, I uphold the decision of adjudicating authority in respect of input service credit on (i) Banking and other financial service; (ii) Legal consultancy service and in respect of credit on Renting of Immovable Property, I remand on the case for fresh consideration. The penalty imposed under Rule 15(1) of CCR is accordingly modified. अपीलकर्ता द्वारा दर्ज की गई अपीलों का निपटारा उपरोक्त तरीकें से किया जाता है। The appeal filed by the appellant stand disposed of in above terms.
